The Mac Exchange is committed to providing our clients the highest quality service and support. We transform concerns and problems into solutions, making your computer experience more enjoyable and help your Macintosh run smoother. We will show you how computers can make your life easier. Whether it's sending e-mail, cruising the web at home or setting up a business, today's computers can enhance your life significantly. We care very much about client satisfaction and take pride in doing the job right the first time, and responding to our customers needs with integrity, timeliness and knowledgeable personal service.

We can take your old computers for trade-in on new or recycle them and find them a good home. We have many used computer systems at reasonable costs. We can research the perfect system for your needs. We'll order, test and customize a new system and its components for your specific requirements, deliver it and even train you! First time users will get up and running quicker. Use our expert specialist to make house calls for training, support or installations at home or business. Bring us your poor, sick and tired Macs for a tune-up, where we can configure them to give you the highest performance possible using our specialized utility software and comprehensive training background. We can repair many out-of-warranty peripherals and Macintosh systems and even upgrade if needed. Pick up the latest and even older software products and peripherals. We have in stock a little bit of everything for the dedicated Mac users!
